How do you get a local real estate investment club to learn about your house for sale?

Question by Caveman Lawyer: How do you get a local real estate investment club to learn about your house for sale?

I have a house for sale at an excellent price, no realtors involved, and want real estate investors to take note. How can I persuade the person in charge of our local real estate club to distribute my e-mail regarding my property? They get solicited all the time, I'm sure. I already e-mailed my property offer and photos to the generic property investment club e-mail address, is this enough? Will they distribute it to all of their members?
